

Green Lacewings are super cool insects! Along with Mason Bees, they are the best insect you can have flying around in your garden. They eat all kinds of pesky pests. Even their babies join in on the fun. The babies look like little alligators. They are known as Aphid Lions, and the little tykes can eat as many as 1,000 aphids per day. Aphids are one of those rotten insects that destroy your garden. Have fun coloring their bright green body and shiny, glowing wings!
