

Earth Worms are an important part of every healthy garden. Did you know that they aerate the soil and create room for your plant's roots to grow? Plus, they actually supply the roots with the nutrients they need through their castings (worm poop).

EARTH WORMS